This year's speaker is

Arthur F. Gmitro, PhD
Department Head, Biomedical Engineering
Professor, Medical Imaging and Optical Sciences

Founders Day is an occasion when we pause to honor the individuals whose scientific contributions allow the College of Medicine to pursue its mission and fulfill its vision. The day is named in recognition of all those people, past and present, who have participated in the establishment and growth of the college.

This year, the Founders Day speaker was selected in a comprehensive process through the Office of the Dean, College of Medicine – Tucson. An announcement soliciting nominations for the 2016 Founders Day speaker was sent to all faculty. Six nominations were received. The names of these accomplished scientists who have made significant contributions to the college and the University were submitted to the Founders Day Speaker Selection Committee. After much consideration, the committee selected Arthur F. Gmitro, PhD, Professor and Department Head of Biomedical Engineering as well as Professor of Medical Imaging and Optical Sciences.

Please plan to join us to congratulate Dr. Gmitro on November 17.
