In The News
Friday, October 26, 2012

» Letters to the editor: We can't afford Institutes of Health (re: $4.5 million grant to Dr. Fernando Martinez of the University of Arizona for asthma research) 10/26/2012 Arizona Daily Star View Clip

» SynCardia Co-Founder Dr. Marvin Slepian Helps Develop Biodegradable Electronics that Vanish Inside the Body 10/26/2012 Beaumont Enterprise View Clip

» Need CPR? If you get it may depend on neighborhood (UA Sarver Heart Center) 10/26/2012 Daily Herald View Clip

» People In Action: Dr. Esther Sternberg has joined the University of Arizona Center for Integrative Medicine 10/26/2012 Inside Tucson Business View Clip

» People In Action: Dr. Iman Hakim, dean and professor of the Mel and Enid Zuckerman College of Public Health at the University of Arizona, has been appointed chair of the Arizona Biomedical Research Commission (ABRC) 10/26/2012 Inside Tucson Business View Clip

» Doctor Develops Electronics that Vanish in the Body (Dr. Slepian, Director of Interventional Cardiology and Professor of Medicine at the University of Arizona (UA) Sarver Heart Center) 10/26/2012 Today's Medical Developments View Clip

» UA panel next month to answer questions about hereditary cancer 10/25/2012 KVOA-TV View Clip