In The News
Monday, Aug. 12, 2013

Beloved Tucson medical student dies of lung cancer (Derek Neal received his MD diploma from the University of Arizona College of Medicine)

Organ recipient says, ”It’s like I never lost my kidney.” (University of Arizona College of Medicine)

Groundbreaking surgery at UAMC gives heart patients new lease on life

Pilot Study Finds NJOY E-Cigarette Use Leads to Short-Term Smoking Reduction and Cessation Potential (Scott J. Leischow, Ph.D., was a professor and the associate director at the College of Medicine and Public Health at the University of Arizona)

Phoenix Children’s get $1M Grant to Fund Cancer Research (Dr. Arceci, University of Arizona College of Medicine-Phoenix)

Ultrasound Device Might Be a Mood Booster (Dr. Stuart Hameroff)

UA’s Rural Health Conference Marks 40th Anniversary

Beware of invisible snakes (Arizona Poison and Drug Information Center)