"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow: Transition from Medicine to Healthcare"

Join renowned expert Dr. Daniel Duffy for a stimulating look at the current healthcare challenges facing today's providers.

Learn more about:

- Democratization of the healthcare system
- Challenges of providing rural health
- Utilizing evolving technology
- Minimizing healthcare disparities among populations
- Understand clinical medicine vs. public health

Daniel Duffy, MD, Steven Landgarten Chair in Medical Leadership and professor of medical informatics, University of Oklahoma College of Medicine, will discuss health-care quality during the Buffmire Lecture at noon on Sept. 30 in Kiewit Auditorium.

Dr. Duffy is an internal medicine physician from the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine's School of Community Medicine Track and a leader in medical education in the U.S. He has served as Dean of the OU, Tulsa School of Community Medicine, Senior Vice President for the American Board of Internal Medicine, and a member of the quality committees of MyHealth, the National Committee on Quality Improvement, and the National Quality Forum. He is a founding member of the American Academy on Healthcare Communications and is a current member of MyHealth Board of Directors.

Please RSVP by emailing glinda@email.arizona.edu by Sept. 25.

This lecture is part of the Donald K. Buffmire Visiting Lectureship in Medicine series, initiated in 1997 by the Flinn Foundation to continue its commitment to bring leading practitioners and thinkers in the medical field to Arizona. The lectureship offers physicians, students and community members opportunities to hear from distinguished leaders in the field of medicine and medical education.
