In The News
Tuesday, May 21, 2013

- Arizona authorities seek relatives of man who may be from Oxnard
  (University of Arizona Medical Center)
- Vigorous athletic activity is safe with implanted arrhythmia devices
  (Dr. Frank Marcus of the University of Arizona)
- Health question of the week: What are bio-identical hormones?
  (Heather Auld, M.D., and fellow at the University of Arizona Department of Integrative Medicine)
- Bringing Neurology Care to Arizona’s Four Corners Region
  (Dr. David Labiner, head of the UA neurology department)
- Study finds improved CPR quality saves lives
  (Dr. Bentley Bobrow, professor of emergency medicine at Maricopa Medical Center and the UA College of Medicine-Phoenix)
- PANDA Fashion Show and Luncheon
  (Dr. Fayez K. Ghishan, director of Steele Children’s Research Center)
- Noise, Dirty Air May Be Double Whammy for the Heart
  (Dr. Philip Harber, a professor of public health at the University of Arizona)
- HealthWatch: The Invisible Hearing Aid
  (Abraham Jacob, MD, Director at the University of Arizona Ear Institute)
- Brain Ultrasound Improves Mood
  (Departments of Anesthesiology and Radiology at the University of Arizona Medical Center in Tucson, Arizona)
- AGA Honors Distinguished Clinicians, Researchers and Educators
  (Dr. Joel Brill, assistant clinical professor of medicine at the University of Arizona College of Medicine, Phoenix)