

Trouble viewing this email? Click here.

The University of Arizona
Health Sciences

February 2016 Newsletter

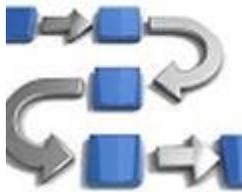

Office of Research Administration

Enjoy our monthly newsletter for updates and opportunities related to researchers within UA Health Sciences:

Faculty Seed Grant Applications Due Tues., March 1

The UA Faculty Seed Grants Program (FSG) is a competitively-based, internal research award program that grants funding awards of up to $10,000 for early career investigators. Read more here.

Changes to Proposal Submission Process at Sponsored Projects

Sponsored Projects Services has made some significant changes to the UAccess Research system. Here's what "first-in, first-out" review means for your proposals... Read more here.

Facilities & Resources Repository: Grant-Ready Text at Your Fingertips

The Facilities & Resources attachment required by National Institutes of Health - and many sponsors in similar format - is often an afterthought. To make it easier, we've put together a "best of" listing of grant-ready text so you can shine light on the strong scientific and supportive environment available at the University of Arizona. Read more here.

Limited Solicitations Explained: There Can Only Be One

Did you know that some external funding programs have a cap on the number of applications that the University of Arizona can submit? Certain funders are doing this more and more often. As a result, a new process is in place...Read more here.

EndNote for Desktop Training Sessions

Workshops coming this March are now open for registration and seats are going fast – enroll today! Read more here.

Spotlight on...Karen Grinfeld

Get to know our staff and read Karen's tips to landing research funding. Read more here.

Register Now for the Southern Arizona Biomedical Research Symposia 2016

The University of Arizona is hosting a series of free educational seminars with two tracks - one for investigators and one for research administrators. Read more here.

Questions? Contact the University of Arizona Health Sciences Office of Research Administration at ahscgrants@list.arizona.edu or visit our website at <http://research.ahsc.arizona.edu/>.

Created and sent with the UAHS Memo Generator.