In The News
Tuesday, August 5, 2014

- Generating a genome to feed the world: Team sequences African rice (Rod Wing, member of the UA BIO5 Institute and holds the Axa Endowed Chair of Genome Biology and Evolutionary Genomics at the International Rice Research Institute) 08/04/2014 Argo Times
- UAMC missing a K-9 security dog 08/04/2014 Arizona Daily Star KVOA Tucson News Tucson News Now
- Place-based Development and Streetcar Transforming Downtown Tucson (Arizona Health Sciences Center) 08/04/2014 StreetsBlog.net
- Breathing Deeply and Safely in the Midst of Flames (Eric Lutz, an assistant professor in the College of Public Health, and Jeff Burgess, associate dean for research in the college's Community, Environment and Policy Division) 08/04/2014 Yuma News Now Phys.org
- How Medical Professionals Protect Themselves From Infectious Disease (Dr. David Beyda, chairman of the Bioethics Department at the UA College of Medicine) 08/01/2014 KJZZ-Radio